ABOUT ME ...

I'm an innovative and detail-oriented E-commerce Specialist, Programmer, and Digital Marketing Professional with hands-on experience in building, managing, and optimizing digital businesses. I have over a year of experience managing personal and company e-commerce operations, including store setup, product optimization, digital marketing, and performance analysis. As a self-taught developer, I have built a solid foundation in JavaScript, HTML, CSS, and modern web technologies, enabling me to create functional, user-focused, and visually engaging digital experiences. I enjoy combining technical expertise with marketing strategies to solve real-world problems, automate workflows, and improve business growth.

I'm passionate about continuous learning and exploring emerging technologies such as AI automation, cybersecurity, web development, and e-commerce, always striving to deliver impactful, scalable, and innovative solutions.
